Crohn’s & Colitis Advocacy Network

Your healthcare team has discussed the importance of connecting with others and supporting other patients with inflammatory bowel disease. If you are interested in helping shape policy on issues that are critical to patients with inflammatory bowel disease, you may be interested in signing up for the Crohn’s & Colitis Foundation’s Advocacy Network.

Volunteers in the Advocacy Network help pass laws and regulations at every level of government on a variety of healthcare concerns:

- More affordable prescription drugs
- Insurance coverage for the treatment your doctor recommends
- Life-changing medical research and innovation

Are you ready to make a difference?

From signing a petition to meeting with lawmakers, we have meaningful advocacy opportunities to match your desired level of involvement. Click here to join our Advocacy Network today!